1. Introduction

Since the 1st January 2021, customs formalities are required to move goods from Great Britain (GB) to Ireland. This includes movements of goods to, or from, GB through Northern Ireland (NI).

2. Importing goods from GB through NI

Revenue has added new information to the website outlining the customs formalities required to move the goods from GB, through NI, to Ireland.

To move goods in this manner you will need to submit declarations to both Irish Revenue and Her Majesty’s Revenue and Customs (HMRC) systems.

There are two customs clearance options when bringing goods from GB, through NI, into Ireland.

You can complete the import formalities in Northern Ireland (NI) or use the transit procedure and raise a transit declaration in GB and complete the import formalities in Ireland.
