OVERVIEW OF CAPITAL ACQUISITIONS TAX CONSOLIDATION ACT 2003

Capital acquisitions tax was introduced in the Capital Acquisitions Tax Act 1976. Capital acquisitions tax, which consists of a tax on gifts and inheritances, replaced the system of death duties which had been in existence for over a century. Capital acquisitions tax applies to gifts taken on or after 28 February 1974 and to inheritances taken on or after 1 April 1975. The tax became a self-assessment tax in 1989.

The Finance Act 1984 introduced a once-off inheritance tax charge on certain property subject to a discretionary trust on 25 January 1984 or becoming subject to a discretionary trust on or after that date. The Finance Act 1986 introduced an annual inheritance tax charge on certain property subject to a discretionary trust commencing with the year 1986.

A probate tax was imposed on estates of deceased persons in the Finance Act 1993, but that tax was abolished in the Finance Act 2001.

The Capital Acquisitions Tax Consolidation Act 2003 is divided into 12 Parts as follows:

Part 1 consists of definitions and rules of construction. It also contains the short title of the Act.

Part 2 contains the charging section for gifts and other provisions relating to gifts.
